CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW, AN EXPERIENCED NURSE AND FEMALE PHYSICIAN, presents to the attention of mothers her

SOOTHING SYRUP,

FOR CHILDREN TEETHING,

which greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflamation, will allay pain and spasmodic action, and is sure to regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to you Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, and can say, in confidence and truth of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—never has it failed, in a single instance, to effect a cure, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak of this matter "what we do know," after ten years' experience, and pledge our reputation for the fulfilment of what we here declare. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most experienced and skillful nurses in New England, and has been used with never-failing success in thousands of cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic, and overcome convulsoins, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the best and surest remedy in the world, in all cases of Dysentery and Diarrhœa in children, whether it arises from teething or from any other cause.—We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be sure—yes, absolutely sure—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac-simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world, and by G. W. Kessler and A. Roush, druggists, Altoona. Price 25 cents per bottle.

BURY ME IN THE MORNING.

BY STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS.

Bury me in the morning, mother—
Oh, let me have the light
Of one bright day on my grave, mother,
Ere you leave me alone with the night;
Alone in the night of my grave, mother,
'Tis a thought of terrible fear—
And you will be here alone, mother,
And stars will be shining here;
So, bury me in the morning, mother,
And let have the light
Of one bright day on my grave mother,
Ere I'm alone in the night.

You tell of the Savior's love, mother,
I feel it is in my heart—
But oh, from this beautiful world, mother,
'Tis hard for the young to part—
Forever to part—when here, mother,
The soul is fain to stay;
For the grave is deep and dark, mother,
And heaven seems far away.
Then bury me in the morning, mother,
And let me have the light
Of one bright day on my grave, mother,
Ere I'm alone with the night.

OUR BELOVED RECRUITS.

Father, brother, husband, lover,
Forth to battle all must go;
But 'tis for our country's glory,
And we'll bless them though in woe.

We will ask our heavenly Father
To sustain them by his power;
Ask him to protect our loved ones
In that dark and fearful hour.

Tho' we love you, far, far dearer,
Than we ever can express;
Still our country is in danger,
And her wrongs you must redress.

You will leave us here in sorrow,
Some, alas! no more to meet;
But to die for home and country,
To a brave man must be sweet.

In all faith to God we give you,
For we know that He can save—
Save from cannon, fire and tempest,
On the land or on the wave.

Go, beloved ones! how we'll mourn you,
Words are all too weak to tell,
Go in peace, and God be with you,
Dearest loved ones, fare thee well.

CHARGE OF MURAT AT EYLAU.

BY J. T. HEADLY.

It is as Eylau that Murat always appears in his most terrible aspect. This battle, fought in mid-winder, in 1807, was the most important and bloody one that had then occurred. France and Russia had never before opposed such strength to each other and a complete victory on either side would have statled the fate of Europe; Bonaparte remained in possession of the field, and that was all; no victory was ever so like a defeat.

The field of Eylau was covered with snow, and the little ponds that lay scattered over it were sufficiently hard to bear artillery. Seventy-one thousand men on one side, and eighty five on the other, arose from the frozen field on which they had slept the night of February, without a tent or covering, to battle for a continent. Advancing through a snow storm so thick he could not see the enemy, the Russian cannon mowed down his ranks with their destructive fire, while the Cossack cavalry, which were ordered to charge, came thundering on, almost hilting the French infantry with their long lances before they were visible through the storm.

Hemmed in and overthrown, the whole division, composed of 16,000 men, with the exception of 1,500, were captured or slain.

Just then the snow storm clearing up revealed to Napoleon the peril to which he was brought, and he immediately ordered a grand charge by the Imperial Guard and the whole cavalry. Nothing was further from Bonaparte's wishes or expectation, than the bringing of his reserve into the engagement at this early stage of battle, but there was no other resource left him.

Murat sustained his high reputation on this occasion, and proved himself, for the hundredth time, worthy of the great confidence Napoleon placed in him. Nothing could be more imposing than the battle field at this moment. Bonaparte and the empire trembled in the ballance, while Murat prepared to lead down his cavalry to save them. Seventy squadrons, making in all 13,000 well-mounted men, began to move over the slope, with the Old Guard marching sternly behind.

Bonaparte, it is said, was more agitated at this crisis than, when, a moment before, he was so near being captured by the Russians. But as he saw those squadrons come down on a plunging trot, pressing hard after the white plume of Murat, that streamed through the snow storm far in front, a smile passed over his countenance. The earth groaned and trembled as they passed, and the sabres, above the dark and angry mass below, looked like the foam of a sea wave as it crests on the deep. The rattling of their muffled thunder of the tread drowned all the roar of battles as with firm, set array, and swift steady motion, they bore down with terrible front on the foe.

The shock of that immense host was like a falling mountain, and the front line of the Russian army went down like frost before it. Then commenced a protracted fight of hand to hand, and sword to sword as in the cavalry action at Eckmuhl. The clashing of steel was like the ringing of countless hammers, and horses and riders were blended in wild confusion together. But the obstinate Russians disdained to fly and rallied again and again, so that it was no longer cavalry charging on infantry but squadrons of horses galloping through broken hosts that gathered into knots, still disputed, with unparalleled bravery, the red rent field.

It was during this strange fight that Murat was seen to perform one of those desperate deeds for which he was so renowned. Excited to the highest pitch of passion by the obstacles which opposed him, he seemed endowed with ten fold strength, and looked more like a superhuman being treading down helpless mortals, than an ordinary man. Amid the roar of artillery, and rattling of musketry, and falling of sabre strokes like lightning about him, that lofty white plume never once went down, while ever and anon it was seen glaring through the smoke of battle; the star of hope in Napoleon, and showing that his "right arm" was still uplifted and striking for victory. He raged like an unloosed lion amid the foe, and his eyes always terrible in battle, burned with increased lustre, while his clear and steady voice, heard above the turmoil of strife, was worth more than a thousand trumpets to cheer on his followers. At length, seeing a knot of Russian soldiers that for a long time had kept up a devouring fire on his men, wheeled his horse and drove in full gallop upon their leveled muskets.—A few of his guards that never allowed that white plume to leave their sight, charged after him. Without waiting to count his foes, he seized his bridle in his teeth, and with his pistol in one hand and his drawn sword in the other, burst in headlong fury upon them, and scattered them as if a hurricane had swept by.—Murat was a thunderbolt on that day, and the deeds that were wrought by him will furnish themes for the poet and the painter.

A FABLE FOR THE YOUNG.—Two springs, which issued from the same mountain, began their course together; one of them took the way in a silent and gentle stream, while the other rushed along with a noisy and rapid current. "Sister,' said the latter, 'at the rate you move, you will probably be dried up before advance much farther, whereas, for myself I shall probably be navigable within two or three hundred furlongs, and after distributing commerce and wealth wherever I flow, I shall majestically proceed to pay my tribute to the ocean. 'So farewell, and patiently submit yourself to your fate!' Her quiet sister made no reply, but calmly descended to the meadow below, and patiently proceeding on her way, she increased her strength by numberless little rills, which she collected in her progress, till at length she was enabled to rise into a considerable river; while the proud stream who had the vanity to depend wholly on her own sufficiency, continued a shallow brook, and was glad, at last, to be helped forward by throwing herself into the arms of her despised sister.

EDUCATION.—It is the duty of the instructors of youth to be patient with the dull, and steady with the froward, to encourage the timid and repress the insolent, fully to employ the minds of their pupils, without overburdening them, to awaken their fear, wihout exciting their dislike, to communicate the stores of knowledge, according to the capacity of the learner, and to enforce obedience by the strictness of discipline. Above all, it is their bounden duty, to be ever on the watch, and to check the very beginnings of vice. For, valuable as knowledge may be virtue is infinitely more valuable; and worse than useless, are these mental accomplishments which are accompanied by depravity of heart.

How Lieut. Greble's Relatives Heard the News.

While the telegraph was bearing the news of the death of Lieut. Greble, the father of that lamented officer was on his way to Fortress Monroe to visit him, carrying him packages put from his wife and mother. At Fortress Monroe Mr. Greble was approached by the oldest soldiers, both regulars and volunteers, with tears in their eyes. These veterans bore testimony to the virtues and heroism of the Lieutenant, and detailed the circumstances of his death as already noted. Mr. Greble is satisfied from the accounts received at the Fortress that the death of his son was consequent upon gross cowardice and mismanagement on the part of the leading officers of the expedition. In fact, he has expressed the belief that the loss of his boy was a deliberate murder for which certain officers at Fortress Monroe should be held to a stern account. At the same time he refers with joy, which bereavement cannot cloud, to the fact that his son was the last to desert the field.

We are told that Mrs. Greble likewise shares, in a high degree, the patriotism of her son, and some days before his death, on being interrogated as to whether she did not regret his exposed position in the army, she replied: "No! my only lament is that my next son is not old enough to fight beside John." A sister of Lieut. Greble recently married Major Leach, of Colonel Patterson's First Pennsylvania Regiment. She was temporarily residing in the country at the time of her brother's death, and strenuous efforts were made to keep the matter secret from her until she had arrived in Philadelphia.

A newsboy passed through the cars on her return, however, and announced the "Great Battle of Norfolk." Mrs. Leach purchased a paper, and her eyes were upon the fatal paragraph; when a friend plucked it from her hand. Bursting into tears she said, "Oh, give me that paper. I know that something has happened to John." "He is wounded," said the friend, striving to break the information gradually. When arrived at home, a telegraphic despatch annouced the death, Mrs. Leach refused to believe the tidings, until they were made too true by the receipt of official intelligence.

The gloom that overspread the household and Philadelphia was without precedent, for the Lieutenant had endeared himself to thousands of citizens, and his death struck all with grief. The alumni of the High School, (an institution of the New York Free Academy,) more than four thousand in number, felt peculiarly the loss of the deceased. The flag upon the School has been at half-mast for three days, and a deputation of pupils was selected to accompany the funeral escort.

☞ The Banner of Peace (a Cumberland Presbyterian paper, published at Nashville, Tenn.,) takes the following view of the feeling of the North in the present crisis:

"We think it probable that many of our readers are not aware of the magnitude of the operations going on at the North to subjugate the South. We will not deceive you. We will tell you that never in the history of the world were greater preparations making. The North is a unit. If our readers could sit here in our sanctum, and open the Northern papers, and read as we do, they would not doubt for a moment the terrible reality. Every State, city, county and village North is resounding with the beat of drums and tramp of armed soldiery; and the watchword is 'Extermination of the rebels.' Every friend we had there is silenced, every press is against us, and the pulpit is praying for the complete destruction of the rebels."

QUAKER TOAST.—This is from me and mine to thee and thine. I wish when thou and thine come to see me and mine, that me and mine, will treat thee and thine as thou and thine have treated me and mine.

This is a new version of the old compliment which runs somewhat after this wise.

I wish thee and thy folks loved me and my folks, as well as me and my folks love thee and thy folks. For sure there never was folks, since folks was folks, that ever folks loved folks half so much as me and my folks love thee and thy folks.

☞ "Pappy, can't I go to the zoological rooms to see the camomile fight the rhinosercow?"

"Sartin, my son—but don't get your trowsers torn. Strange, my dear, what a taste that boy has for natural history, isn't it? No longer than yesterday he had eight pair of tom cats hanging by their tails from the clothes-line."

☞ An Ohio stumper, while making a speech, paused in the midst of it, and exclaimed:

"Now, gentlemen, what do you think?"

"I think, sir, I do indeed, sir—I think if you and I were to stump the country together, we would tell more lies than any other two men in the country, sir—and I'd not say a word myself during the whole time?

DRAFTING FOR THE ARMY.

A RICH SCENE.

BY "CHARLIE."

An amusing scene came off in a small town situated in the north-eastern part of this (Dutchess) county, a few days ago.

It appears that a young man engaged in peddling "Yankee Notions," happening to stop for the night at a tavern with his wares, thought he would have some sport with the rustics, before his departure; and accordingly adopted the plan of representing himself in the employ of "Uncle Sam."

Before retiring for the night, he had the landlord of the hotel "well posted" as to his plans for the morrow, giving him instrustions to inform the "boys" that there was a drafting officer now staying there.

In the morning he sallied forth into the bar-room; and the first one he "picked out" of the crowd, was a man pretty well advanced towards forty-five years of age, and apparently a coward at heart.

The officer advanced toward him, placed his hand upon his shoulder, and at the same time asking his name:

"Oh! I cannot go!" exclaimed the man "I cannot go; I'm not a sound man. I have had my forefinger bruised, three of my ribs have been broken, and have lost the use of my right eye. I cannot go! I tell you I am not a sound man."

The officer thinking that the man had "sufficient" reasons why he could not go, left him and proceeded on to another man somewhat younger than the first man accosted.

"Come up here, my man?" said the public functionary, "What is your name?"

"Oh! I shall die before I get there!" cried out the second, somewhat encouraged by the success of the first, in getting free from being enrolled, "I never can go. I am so unwell.

"Very well, my good fellow, carelessly replied "Uncle Sam," "I will never release you on any such pretence, unless you will get the written certificate of some practicing physician, well known in this vicinity."

Accordingly, off starts the "green 'un" for the nearest doctor. Arriving at the house, almost exhausted with fatigue, he rushes in the Doctor's office, and cries out in a stammering manner:

"Doc—Doctor! I want you to give me a certificate to tell the man what pulls men off to join the army, that I'm not a well man."

"Well," replied the doctor, "I don't know as I can do that for you. I cannot say you are not a well man. I would perjure myself if I did.

Oh! Now dear doctor, you know it would be the last time I would see "Sal," if they take me off. Can't you jest set it down for me."

While the second character was gone for the doctor's certificate, the drafting officer had "struck on" about twenty others congregated in the room, each one having, in his own estimation, some plausible excuse for not wanting to go.

It soon became rumored around the village what was going off at the hotel, and both old and young, male and female, rushed to the scene, the men begging to be "let off just for once," and the women crying and going into hysterics, upon the anticipatied loss of husbands and lovers.

The "officer" after having enrolled a sufficient number of men to satisfy his fun-loving characteristics, gave orders to them to appear on the ground the next morning to be in readiness to go to Albany the day following, to be armed and equipped.

Many were the tears shed that night, and many were the wills that were made. Lovers and husbands parted, as they tho't they could never let their Zacariahs go to be shot at by the tarnal rebels.

The morning came, and the crowd began to gather around the hotel. Everything was ready to start, when—lo! the pedlar had decamped for parts unknown. The cry of "sold!" "sold!" went up from every mouth, and the men returned to their work, declaring that they would treat him to a coat of tar and feathers, if he should ever happen to travel that way again.

A CURE FOR HYDROPHOBIA.—One of our exchanges publishes the following, relative to an alleged remedy for hydrophobia:

"A Saxon forester named Gastell, now of the venerable age of eighty-two, unwilling to take to the grave with him a secret of so much importance, has made public in the Leipsic Journal the means which he has used for fifty years, and wherewith he affirms he has rescued many human beings and cattle from the fearful death of hydrophobia. Immediately take warm vinegar, or tepid water, wash the wound therewith, and then dry it; then pour upon the wound a few drops of hydrochloric acid, because mineral acids destroy the poison of the saliva, by which means the latter is neutralized."

THE NEWS.—The telegraph despatches and rumors which come to us through the daily papers are so varied, contradictory and imaginary that we scarce know what to tell our readers to-day lest it should be contradicted to-morrow. How the Federal and Secession armies can long remain encamped within sight of each other and not come in collision is more than we can understand, and must be a severe tax upon the patience and impetuosity of the Northern men who occupy the advanced positions.

The daily papers tell us that Governor Pickens, of South Carolina, has issued a proclamation forbidding any more troops from leaving the State, believing that the Northern hordes contemplate an invasion of that State, via Charleston.

Gov. Letcher, of Virginia, has became a little uneasy since the assembling of the convention of the Union men of that State, at Wheeling. This convention adopted a declaration of independence and established a provisional government for the State, in accordance with the Constitution of the United States, thereby deposing the traitor, Letcher, who has gone over, body, soul and breeches, to the Southern Confederacy, and is now endeavoring to drag the State out with him. But there is a host of Union men in that State who dare to do right, and will neither be driven or led by him, and who will, ere long, make his seat at Richmond too hot for him.

The balloon experiment, with telegraph wire attached, connecting with the War Department, made by Prof. Lowe, has proved an entire success. He ascended to an altitude of 1,000 feet above Washington city and from thence took a survey of the country, through a spy glass, for fifty miles around and immediately reported to the Department what he there observed. The balloon is now in daily use, making observations of the enemy's manoeuvreings, and it must prove of great value to the government.

Andrew Johnson, U. S. Senator from Tennessee, one of the purest patriots and bravest men in the country, has arrived in Washington city to take his seat at the extra session which convenes on the 4th of July. He was serenaded on the evening of his arrival, and responded in an address which we publish in another column. Let everybody read it.

The time of most of the three month volunteers will expire within the next thirty days, but the government has taken care to anticipate the disbanding of these by bringing forward, with great rapidity, all regiments that are ready to serve during the war. The three month men are now occupying the most advanced positions under Gens. McDowell and Patterson, and are likely to get into active service ere their time expires, in which event it is not likely that any will return except those whose business positively demands their attention; and those who remain will enlist for three years, thereby giving to the regular army several regiments of well drilled troops. None of our boys would like to come home without having a skirmish with the rebels, and if they cannot have it inside of three months, they will go in for three years and be sure of it.

The traitors in the South cause it to be announced that, in the event of a rising of their slaves, they will cut the throat of every male negro over five years of age. This is a sad comment upon their boast that their slaves will be found faithful to them under all circumstances. Should they carry out their threat would they not be chargeable with abolitionism?

The military movements in and around Washington are now more active than they have yet been. Over 18,000 troops arrived in the city last week, and double that number will go in this week. There are now over 55,000 troops in the city and vicinity.

Col. Bowman, of the Engineer Corps U. S. A., and a companion, were recently captured outside of his pickets, by a party of Secessionists, in the neighborhood of Williamsport, Md. It was afterwards reported that they had hung him, but as nothing positive is known of his whereabouts, this is only supposition.

A captain of one of the companies of the Second Connecticut regiment, near Alexandria, Va., was abducted in a very singular manner on last Saturday afternoon. A lady called upon him and requested an escort to her home as she was afraid to go alone. He gallantly tendered his own services, since which nothing has been heard of him. A very foolish trick on his part.

Maj. Gen. McClelland is at Grafton, Va., at the head of his command now advancing through that State. The rebel force at Romney is reported by a deserter to be 3,500.

Gen. Butler, in command at Fortress Monroe, has refused admittance to any persons visiting that place through curiosity alone, and those not engaged in the fortress are allowed but a limited stay.—The first shot fired from one of Sawyer's rifled cannon, planted at the Rip Raps, a short distance from the fortress, struck the corner of the magazine in a rebel fortification, some three mile off, at which it was aimed. It scared the rebels badly and came near producing an explosion.—The rebels are not safe within four miles of this gun. The first shot was merely an experiment.

Gen. Lyon is pushing on the campaign vigorously in Missouri, and will soon push the rebels out of the State. An engagement took place at Cole Camp, near the terminus of the Pacific Railroad, on the night of the 18th inst., between a considerable body of Union men, under Capt. Cook, and a number of State troops.—The State troops were forced to retreat, with a loss of 25 killed. Twenty-three Union men were killed.

By the arrival of the last steamer from Europe we learn that the British government has determined to send three regiments of infantry and sufficient artillery and munitions of war to reinforce the North American garrisons. It is thought desirable to place them in a position to command respect from any irregular bodies which, in a moment of excitement, might assail them. The Paris Moniteur publishes the declaration that the Emperor Napoleon intends to maintain the strictest neutrality in the American war.

Last week a storehouse at Richmond, containing $120,000 worth of property was destroyed by fire, and on Saturday night the war steamer Glencove was burned to the water's edge. Both cases of incendiarism, the authors of which have not yet been discovered. They have now only two steamers on James river.

It is said by those who have access to official data, that the present available volunteer force is over three hundred thousand men.

The Rebels Frightened.

A correspondent of the New York World gives the following with reference to the visit of the Commissioners of the Southern Confederacy, who are said to have been in Washington within a short time past, for the purpose of treating with the general government:

It seems that Jefferson Davis, having become thoroughly frightened, has, in a semi-official manner, made overtures to our government.—When his commissioners reached the Capitol they were desired to state their case, and to tell what they wished. They submitted two propositions:

First, That the United States unconditionally recognize the existence of the Southern Confederacy, and that the latter be premitted for a term of one, two, or three years, to carry on their government as an experiment. That the expenses of the war thus far incurred, be equitably arranged between the two sections, and that each do its best for the maintenance of friendly feeling and intercourse between the two peoples. And that if, at the expiration of the time agreed upon, it be found that the experiment cannot succeed, a commission be appointed to reconstruct a Union.

This proposition was peremptorily rejected.

Whereupon they modestly put forth another, as follows:

Second, The South will be content if the Government will pledge itself to pass, at the coming session of Congress, an irrepealable constitutional provision recognizing and legalizing forever the institution of slavery below thirty-six thirty, which is the Southern boundary line of the State of Missouri. This done, the Southern Provisional Government pledges itself instantly to abandon war, and to re-establish peace and the most cordial relationship, so far as its section is concerned; to re-direct the course of trade into its accustomed channels, and in every way restore the happy days of our forefathers.

As to the reception which this preposition received, my information was positive, though from another source I gather a doubt. He states that it, also, was peremptorily rejected. It seemed to the party of the second part a mere intensification of the Crittenden amendment, and not varying greatly from the Adams' proposition. Others say that the acceptance of this proposition would not be unacceptable to the Secretary of State; and, therefore, will meet with favor from the President. Between the two I cannot decide.

Mr. Davis says that his retreat from Harper's Ferry was a stroke of peaceful policy. He had troops enough there to withstand any force which General Scott was prepared to bring against him and it was not because he feared the result of an engagement at that time, but because he knew that he had no force with which to meet what might subsequently be sent against him. The Secession Government now rests on a hope—that hope once swallowed up in a disastrous defeat upon the battle field would prove the destruction of what it now sustains. He is sensible of the fact, that if once defeated, there would rise such a tide of popular indignation against him and his coworkers that they could in no way withstand, and ignominious flight or ignominious death would be the lot of one and all.

A Trip to Harrisburg.

Having a few leisure hours within the past week, we embraced the opportunity to escape for a while from the confines and cares of a printing office, and sought recreation and variety in a trip to Harrisburg. It did our heart good to witness the promising appearance of the wheat crop as we passed down the valley of the Juniata. Should nothing interfere with it within the next two weeks, the labors of the husbandman will be more amply rewarded this year than for several years past. The corn crop, which covers more acres than usual, looks rather short for this season of the year, owing to the lateness of the spring, but as the coming months of July and August generally make this crop, we hope that it may yet prove an average one.

From almost every housetop along the line of the road the glorious ensign of our nationality had once fluttered to the breeze—we say once, because the most of the bunting which composed these ensigns was selected without due regard to fast colors, and the sun and rain have obliterated the red and blue, causing them to look more like flags of truce than emblems of a great nation. They should either be taken down entirely, or replaced with better ones, as they are now more of a burlesque than an evidence of patriotism. That many of them will ever be replaced with new ones is doubtful.—The mania for such displays of the feelings and loyalty of our people has had its day, to a certain extent, nevertheless that loyalty which prompted the first flinging out of the glorious stars and stripes, is as true, deep and abiding, as it was.

Arrived at Harrisburg, we found it wearing a truly martial appearance. The stars and stripes were to be seen on almost every housetop and at the entrance to all business places. Old and young alike have, from continued association with military manoeuvreings, caught the military fever, if we may be allowed the expression. They talk about little else than the military, walk with measured tread, a la militaire, or, if a faster gait be necessary, they assume the rocking "Zouave trot," as it is called. At every turn of the street, and wherever you turn your eyes, you encounter the grim-visaged sons of Mars, with stripes on their pants, lace on their caps, swords, bayonets, pistols, bowie-knives, butcher-knives and dirks at their sides, and "death to traitors" in their eyes. Everything here goes by "left," "left." They file around corners, and in and out of saloons, to the time of "left," "left." Boys and men, by twos or tens, keep time to "left," "left." In fact it is nothing but "left," "left," all over the city. By the way, the Harrisburg Telegraph told a good story the other day, in which this word "left" played a conspicuous part, and we think it will bear repeating. An unsophisticated couple from one of the rural districts around Harrisburg, came to the city to be united in the holy bonds of matrimony, and get a sight of the "sojers boys." After the most important ceremony had been performed and they had seen enough of the military, they wended their way to the depot, and took seats in the train to return home again. Just previous to the departure of the train, the happy swain darted out of the cars and down into a neighboring saloon to take on a little steam by swallowing a glass of lager, and then returned to find that the engineer of the train had put on steam also and moved off without him! The ladies can imagine the feelings of the bride, and the gentlemen can picture the discomfiture of the groom under such circumstances. There was no use in swearing, as that would not bring back the train or help him on his journey, and he concluded to bear his misfortune as philosophically as he could until the arrival of the next train. To divert his mind he took a stroll around the city. Every company of two or more persons that he passed on the sidewalk, greeted him with the ominous words, "left," "left," and as he had not before heard them, and did not know their meaning, he imagined that everybody knew that he had been "left" by the train, and were thus poking fun at him; consequently, he gave them savage looks as they passed. Wherever he went on the streets, in hotels, or saloons, everybody repeated the words "left," "left," and he could find no rest. At last he became enraged and declared that he would no longer remain in a town where everybody knew of his misfortune and were continually casting it up to him, and he therefore took "Walker's Line" and left for the next station.

As is our usual custom, we put up at the United States Hotel, a short distance above the depot, and found everything in statu quo. This house is one of the most orderly to be found anywhere. Mr. Ten Eyck, the proprietor, knows how to "keep a hotel" as well as any other man in Harrisburg. His table is always supplied with the choice of the market, and every attention necessary to comfort and convenience is given.

On Friday morning we witnesed the arrival of the 2d Regiment of Rhode Island Volunteers, under command of Col. Slocum. They arrived over the Lebanon Valley Rail Road, direct from New York. They numbered eight hundred infantry, two hundred artillery, with a well-appointed battery of six rifled cannon, one hundred horses, and a full equipment of camping materials. They were a splendid looking body of men, and the uniforms they wore presented a striking contrast with those worn by the Pennsylvania Volunteers. Gov. Sprague, and other Executive officers of the State accompanied the regiment. A brief and pleasant interview took place between Gov. Sprague and Gov. Curtin, at the U. S. Hotel. Gov. S. is quite a small man, and looks young to occupy the position he does; nevertheless, there is something more than ordinary in the shape of his head, and he talks like a true patriot.

During the day we visited Camp Curtin, and we must confess that we observed nothing there which would lead us to desire a soldier's life, but on the contrary many things which would cause us to consider well the privations and hardships we would be compelled to encounter. A smart shower of rain had fallen in the morning, and the main thoroughfares of the camp were about an inch deep with mud, and the drill-ground was almost covered with pools of water, making it anything else than pleasant to go through the manœuvres of a squad. But few of the men on the ground, some 4,000 in number, had received their uniforms, and the clothes of many of them looked as though they needed a supply at as early a day as possible. Many of the men with whom we conversed in the morning, complained that they had been kept so long in the camp without any prospect of getting into active service. They were tired of the monotonous life they there led. We were on the ground at noon when two regiments, in one of which was the celebrated "Buck Tails," from the regions of Clarion, Elk, Potter, &c., received their orders to get ready to march that evening, to proceed over the Penn'a R. R. and Huntingdon & Broad Top R. R. to Hopewell, and from thence march across the country on foot to the relief of Col. Wallace, at Cumberland, Md., who was occupying that place with a regiment of Indiana Zouaves, and was being advanced upon by a party of 4,000 or 5,000 Secessionists. To attempt to describe the scene which this order created would be folly. The prospect of being moved from their present quarters, and the hope of getting into active service immediately, so elated the men that they gave vent to their joy in terrific yelling, whooping, and every other manner possible. It was with difficulty that the officers could keep them quiet long enough to give them their orders. We saw them again when we passed through Huntingdon, on Saturday, and they were all in fine spirits. In our opinion the "Buck Tails" could frighten an army by yelling, if in no other way.

The Pennsylvania Fifth.

We have before us a copy of a paper bearing the above title, published in Alexandria, Va., by the printers in the Fifth Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers. On entering that town the U. S. troops took possession of two or three secession printing offices, and by permission of the officers of the regiment, they issue a neat and spicy sheet, weekly, from one of the offices. A portion of the paper is set in the German language. We make a few selections from the original articles in the number before us:

An meine Waffenbrueder, welche bie Fairfax Courthaus und Big Bethel kaempften.

Tapf're Brueder, Euch ertoene
Meines Liedes Feierklang;
Als der Freiheit wuerd'ge Soehne

Alexandria, Va., Juni 14, 1861. C. ZINN.

"MOLASSES GAP"

Is receiving attention now, and when the rebels who are lying around the Junction hear the shrill whistle of the engine as it bears the thousands of bristling bayonets down upon them, they will make, no doubt, as inglorious a flight as, they did when we occupied Alexandria. In the hurried flight of the traitors, as we came down on them, from here, they had not time to take all the valuable railroad machinery away, and they could not destroy it. There is left some forty miles of railroad iron; an immense supply of car wheels; timber, and everything needed to build and keep a road in order.

The large stock of material on hand, is accounted for by the fact that they always bought everything any one would sell on credit and never paid any one.

The road is in a miserable condition. The shops and depot are all dirty and slovenly, on all sides are half used and broken implements and cars. A more wretched, villianous and wasteful management of a railroad was never seen, unless matters grow worse as we go South.

Order will soon reign in Warsaw, and by our next issue we hope to have a time table, and regular trains to "Molasses Gap" and "Leesburg."

While the country mourns the loss of Lieut. Greble, perhaps, the people are not aware that there are a few more of the same sort to revenge his fall. His father and only brother belong to a military company in Philadelphia. His brother-in-law, Major Wm. A. Leech, who was with him at West Point is second in command of the Penn'a Seventeenth now marching westward from Washington towards Harper's Ferry.

Henceforth in the time of battle, let the watchword, and reply be "Remember Greble!" "Remember Ellsworth!"

SENTIMENT BY A ZOO ZOO.—"My dear Jeff. Davis, it is useless for you to curry favor with the crowned heads abroad. Your most intimate relations will not be with Eur ope, but with Our rope!"

A DISTINCTION WITH A DIFFERENCE.—The rebels say "their privateers will shortly swarm the seas." And thereupon our war vessels will immediately seize the swarm.

THE BRIGADE THAT OUGHT TO REAP GLORY.—Sickle's Brigade.

GEN. SCOTT.—Gen. Webb, of the New York Courier, has lately returned from Washington, and thinks he knows something about the Lt. General's views. He says:

Gen. Scott, to whom Mr. Lincoln looks to do the work, as readily undertakes the task. The old Hero insists, however, that while a proclamation will, if required, call half a million of men into the field, it takes time to convert them into soldiers. 'Make haste slowly,' is the motto; and as he has never retreated, and never met with a reverse, he says to the Cabinet, 'it is your duty to resist the outside pressure, and to preach patience to the people. We have abundance of men and money; and in due time, we shall have abundance of the munitions of war. The only thing in which we are deficient, is patience and that, gentlemen, you must give the people.—We want time to make soldiers of our volunteers we want time to organize the commissariat and baggage trains; we want time to get ready to insure victory and success, and we want time to arrange every department of the army, and so organize our columns that we can predict weeks and even months in advance, each days's work. With inexhaustible means and any desirable number of men, all of whom will be good soldiers by November, you have only to exercise patience, and on or before the 1st of May next, I pledge what little reputation I have acquired that the rebellion shall be suppressed, the Constitution and the laws be vindicated, and the union of the States be re-established. The people have so willed it; and with ordinary patience every good citizen may feel assured that peace and quiet will pervade the country and business subside into its usual channels before the 1st day of May, 1862.

Speech of Andrew Johnson.

The special corespondent of Forney's Press gives the following extract form the speech of Hon. Andrew Johnson, on the occasion of a serenade given him in Washington city a few evenings cince:

He said that Mr. Lincoln had done no more than his duty, and that if he had done less, be would have deserved the halter himself. He said he stood by the President in all his acts, and called upon all good citizens everywhere to do the same. Let millions of money be expended, let our most precious blood be poured out; but above and before all things, let the Union and Constitution be preserved.

The Speaker showd clearly that the war was not brought about by the North, but in the fulfilment of every citizen's greatest privilege—the election of our Chief Magistrate, which was done honestly and fairly.

There arose in the South a few dishonest politicians, who were bound to break up the Union and the Government. Then was practically inaugurated the principle of secession. South Carolina must first make friends with the hydra-headed monster, and thrust its acquaintance upon the other Southern States by its brutal assault on Fort Sumpter, thus causing blood to flow and the cannons to reverberate over the South, until every Southerner should be filled with the spirit of war.

He showed that the doctrines of secession would utterly abandon the idea of ever constructing another Republic, because its tendency was to destroy and not to inaugurate any system of equality among men, and destroy that principle which enable men to govern themselves. Hence, to acknowledge the doctrine of secession would be to invite despotism and anarchy. And shall we permit it? [Cries of "No! No! Never!"]

The line of march has already begun on Washington, the capital of our nation, founded by the father of our country, George Washington; and, my friends, let met tell you that anarchy and destruction are treading closer upon your heels than you are aware, if you allow this principle or its advocates to gain a foothold upon the soil of American freedom.

This man Beauregard, or no regard (cries of blackguard,) as some call him, fired upon our gallant Anderson when he was informed that he and his men were upon the point of starvation, and would evacuate the fort in three days, unless supplied with provision. Pryor was there, and desired that the cannon's roar should be heard by Virginia, as that State was then wavering on the point of secession, and he desired to make her decide in favor of "protection of the rights of the South." Hence, the war upon a little band of the most gallant, though starving men, in the service.

He referred to the historical records of the past to prove the spirit of anarchy among bad men, and proved the present Southern movements to eclipse them all.

What principles have we lost by the continuance of this Union? [Cries of "none."] Then stand by it! ["We will," "we will."] Compromise! Where can compromise be found but in the Constitution of the United States? I look upon it as one of the best compromises that ever could be made. ("Good!" "good!") Hence I look upon it as our God-bidden duty to stand by it; by the Government which was framed by Washington; which was sustained by Jackson; which was fought for by our good old patriot Scott. ("Bravo!" and "Huzza for Gen. Scott," and the cheers heartily given.")

He then paid a very high compliment to General Scott.

He believed South Carolina and the whole South would be as quiet as a lamb if the old man Jackson had been at the head of the nation last fall; and could Clay and Webster respond to their cries of compromise, it would be as it often has been, in the language of Andrew Jackson: "The Federal Union—it must and shall be preserved."

They may burn our fields, destroy our property, nay, our best blood may and will be sacrificed, but East Tennessee cannot be converted into a land of slaves! They may confiscate my little property I own in Tennessee. My life may be required to lay upon the alter of my country, but let my country be saved! She is right, and right and justice must prevail, while the stars and stripes continue to float over us.

Wise Making an Ass of Himself Again.

At a serenade at Richmond, the irrepressible Wise made one of his rambling and incoherent speeches. He is now content to play second fiddle to Jeff. Davis. We quote as follows:—The call is for action. I rejoice in this war.—Who is there that now dares to put on sanctity to deprecate war, or the "horrid glories of war." None, Why? Because it is a war of purification. You want war, fire, blood, to purify you; and the Lord of Hosts has demanded that you should walk through fire and blood. You are called to the fiery baptism, and I call upon you to come up to the altar. Though your pathway be through fire, or through a river of blood, trun not aside. Be in no haste—no hurry and flurry. Collect yourselves—summon yourselves—elevate yourselves to the high and sacred duty of patriotism. The man who dares to pray, the man who dares to wait until some magic arm is put into his hand; the man who will not go unless he have a Minie, or percussion musket, who will not be content with flint and steel, or even a gun without a lock—is worse than a cowared—he is a renegade. If he can do no better, go to a blacksmith, take a gun along as a sample, and get him to make you one like it. Get a spear—a lance. Take a lesson from John Brown. Manufacture your blades from old iron, even though it be the tires of your cart wheels. Get a bit of carriage spring, and grind and burnish it in the shape of a bowie knife, and put it to any sort of a handle, so that it be strong—ash, hickory, oak. But, if possible, get a double barreled gun and a dozen rounds of buckshot, and go upon the battle field with these. If the enemy's guns reach further than yours, reduce the distance, meet them foot to foot, eye to eye, and body to body, and when you strike a blow, strike home. Your true-blooded Yankee will never stand still in the presence of cold steel.—Let your aim, therefore, be to get into close quarters, and with a few decided, vigorous movements, always pushing forward, never back, my word for it, the soil of Virginia will be swept of the Vandals who are now polluting its atmosphere.

A GOOD-BYE KISS GIVEN UNDER DIFFICULTIES.—As the Eighth Ohio Regiment was going from Cleveland to Camp Dennison, Capt. Buckingham supposed the train would stop at Crestline, and notified his wife. Unfortunately, the orders were to pass through Crestline without stopping. The train, however, slacked up a little, but the rate of speed was still high. The gallant captain saw his wife on the platform, made a desperate spring, clasped her in his arms, kissed her quickly, and, under tremendous applause from his comrades on board, sprang back on the flying train, having barely time to catch the rear car.

THE SHARP SHOOTERS.—Mr. Berdan who has been active in organizing the regiment of crack shots, has received more than five hundred applications, by letter, from sharp-shooters, who are desirous of joining this regiment, and who can send targets within the limits of the requirement, properly attested. Detachments from this regiment will be sent forward, and placed at the disposal of General Scott, as fast as subscriptions are made for equipping the men.

CANANDAGUA, July 15, 1859.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburg, Pa:—Gents:—As we are strangers, I herewith enclose you twenty-eight dollars for four dozen Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which please forward via Michigan Southern Railroad, Toledo, Ohio, and Clayton Station. I have purchased several dozen bottles at Toledo this Summer, but the sale is on the increase so much that I wish to open a direct trade with you. I was induced to try your Bitters by my physician, for the Liver Complaint, and received such material aid that I have recommended it to others and have sold about two dozen per week for some time. I have all kinds of medicine in my store, but there is none that I can so cheerfully and truthfully recommend as your Bitters, for I know they have helped me beyond my expectation. Yours respectfully,

PHILO WILSON.

A Card to the Suffering.

The Rev. Wm. Cosgrove, while laboring as a missionary in Japan, was cured of Consumption, when all other means had failed, by a recipe obtained from a learned physician residing in the great city of Jeddo. This recipe has cured great numbers who were suffering from Consumption, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Coughs and Colds, and the debility and nervous depression caused by these disorders.

Desirous of benefitting others, I will send this recipe, which I brought home with me, to all who need it, free of charge.

It is splendid as regards the palatial structure in which the immense business of the establishment is conducted, and it is equally splendid in respect to its great facilities and vast resources. But to its patrons its chief attractions are, first, the elegance of the garments for Gentlemen and Youths, manufactured there; secondly, the beauty and durability of the materials, and the superior excellence of the fit, and lastly the moderate prices at which the goods are sold. LOCAL ITEMS.

TROOPS EN ROUTE.—On Saturday last, the Second Regiment from Wisconsin passed thro' this place en route for Washington City. It numbered 1,050 men, under command of Col. S. Park Cook. They were uniformed in substantial gray cloth suits, with knapsacks, haversacks, and fatigue caps complete. This regiment was organized from the most stalwart men of the Badger State, most of them being from the mining and lumbering regions, and well able to bear fatigue and privations. They are well disciplined.

On Tuesday morning, the First Regiment from Minnesota passed East over the Penn'a R. R., en route for Washington city. They were a healthy looking body of men, such as we might expect to find on the frontiers. Some of them looked as if there might be more Indian than Anglo-Saxon in their composition. They were uniformed in good light-blue cloth suits, with arms and all necessary camp equipage.—The regiment numbered near fifteen hundred men.

THE FOURTH.—There has been no regular programme of operations adopted for the celebration of the glorious Fourth in this place. So far as we are advised, the arrangements are as follows:—Our Catholic citizens connected with St. John's Church will celebrate the day in McCartney's woods adjoining town. The German Catholics will hold a celebration in Beales' woods. A social party, composed of quite a number of families of the place, will spend the day in the grove adjoining West Ward School property. The scholars connected with the public schools, and their friends, will spend the day in a grove adjoining town. Those not in either of the above rings will spend the day as best suits them. Divine service, appropriate to the occasion, will be held in St. Luke's Episcopal Church, at 8 o'clock A. M. of the Fourth.

CATHOLIC CELEBRATION.—We understand that the Catholic portion of our citizens intend celebrating the coming Fourth in their usual manner. If we be rightly informed, the committee have this year selected McCartney's Woods, at the West end of Loudonsville, for the occasion. The ladies are making extensive preparations to have plenty of the nice and good things of the season. Those who wish for fun and frolic on the Glorious Fourth will find all in McCartney's Woods on that day.

GO TO THE CORNER.—Go the corner of Main and Annie streets if you wish to get a supply of fire-crackers, of every description, with which to celebrate the coming Fourth. Also, if you wish choice confectioneries, good segars and tobacco, letter or note paper, national or plain, envelopes of all kinds. Also, a fresh stock of lemons, oranges, &c., just received. Go to Clabaugh's, on the corner, if you wish nice things for the Fourth, or any other time. You'll get the worth of your money there.

APPOINTED.—We are pleased to learn that our young friend, P. T. Keys, has been appointed a First Lieutenant in the regular army, and assigned a position in the 16th Regiment of Infantry, the rendezvous of which is at Chicago. We understand that Pat. leaves for Chicago this week. He will make a good looking, popular and brave officer. Success attend him.

For the Altoona Tribune.

Messrs, Editors.—The scholars of school No 1 West Ward, Altoona, desire to return, through the columns of the Tribune, their thanks to their friends for the aid rendered them in preparing for their pic nic held to-day. Also, to the manny young ladies for their encouraging presence and assistance in serving up the good things of the occasion.

What the scholars of this school undertake, whether it be the ennobling of human nature by storing the minds with useful knowledge, or getting up entertainments of pleasure, their teachers finds, must prove successful.

J. GINTER C.

Altoona June 20, 1861.

We learn from those who participated in the festivities of the above occasion, that it was indeed a recherche affair. The supply of good things were without end, and mirth and pleasure ruled the hour. The managers have our thanks for a couple of excelent cakes.

More Rifled Guns from Phœnixville.

A Washington dispatch to the Times says: "The contract given out without advertising, for the construction of six hundred cannon at one establishment, and of one form, is the subject of a sharp criticism. It seems remarkable and incomprehensible." The Philadelphia Press says further: "We learn that the United States Government has awarded a contract for six hundred cannon of the Griffin rifled patent to the Phœnix Iron Company, of this State. These guns were warmly recommended by Quartermaster General Meigs. The Griffin rifle gun is manufactured in a rolling mill. It is not hammered like the Armstrong and Whitworth gun, but is rolled hollow. It has been thoroughly tested, and we understand that a six-pounder will throw a ball three miles and a half. It has the strength of a bronze gun, with several advantages not possessed by that composition.—A six-pounder Griffin gun will throw a fifteen-pound ball of the acorn shape. The authorities of our city have ordered two batteries of six-pounders of this class of cannon, comprising twelve guns. They will be ready for delivery in the course of two weeks.

Important and Interesting from Harper's Ferry.

A special correspondent of the Washington Star under date of June 20th, gives the following account of the finishing up of things at Harper's Ferry:

Yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon, at 3 o'clock, I crossed over to Harper's Ferry, and found every thing pretty much as the Secession troops had left it. Such a scene of utter desolation and destruction never before met my eyes. I returned back to Sandy Hook, one mile below Harper's Ferry, on the Maryland side of the Potomac, to rest for the night. After an early breakfast I returned to the Maryland end of the late Harper's Ferry bridge over the Potomac, and ascended the mountain heights there, to look at the condition of the works on that side the enemy had abandoned. At 6 A.M. I discovered a picket or advance mounted guard of about a dozen wending their way into Harper's Ferry down the Charlstown road.

After making a circle through the town, they returned out upon the Charlestown road; and in an hour afterwards I saw a force of about three hundred foot and sixty horses enter the town by the same road. On their appearance on the outskirts of the town there was a general stampede of the citizens who had remained there or ventured to return there after its late evacuation by General Johnson's army. They mostly rushed into the river and made for the Maryland shore by wading and swimming.—Some put off in small boats. The Secession troops hurried to the water's edge after them, and fired at the poor defenceless creatures so long as any of them were in range of their pieces. Not one of them, (about fifty in number,) however, was either killed or wounded.

The disunion troops immediately afterwards recommenced the work of destruction. I saw them set fire to the fine bridge over the Shenandoah—a costly uncovered structure, built about two years ago. They completely destroyed it, though it was all on Virginia soil. They next went to the Potomac (Baltimore and Ohio Railroad) bridge and threw into the river a fine and very large locomotive, that had been left (because too large to be carried off upon the Winchester Railroad,) when Johnson's army retreated, on the only span of the bridge work that was not burned on the morning of the evacuation—it being an iron span, it will be recollected. They accomplished that work of destruction—throwing the locomotive into the river—by the use of crowbars, &c. They next arrested Mr. E. H. Chambers, surrounding his house and ordering him to surrender; which he refused to do. An order was then given to shoot him; and then he surrounded and was taken off on horseback, without even permitting him to get his hat.

They next went to the residence of Nat Allison, and arrested him, pretty much in the same way, and afterwards Mr. John Chatman, Armstead Roderick, Adam Ruleman, and Mr. Abram Herr, who owns and carries on the great flouring mills there. All these gentlemen are highly respectable citizens and strong Unionists.—In all, they arrested and hurried off about twelve. They next went to the Hall's Rifle Works and removed the gunstocks that had been left there underoyed; they were worth about $25,000; and it was understood they were preparing to send them to Richmond via the Winchester Railroad. I remained watching them, from the mountain, until 1 P. M., up to which time they were engaged in securing the gunstocks and had fired one of the rifle shops before I left my position.

From some of the citizens who escaped their clutches by swimming the Potomac I learned that they avowed that they had orders to burn every house in the town on which a Union flag was found hoisted; and also to burn the bridge and all the remaining rifle and arm works.

I learned from the swimmer, that Johnson's army is understood at Harper's Ferry to have gone in different directions; a portion remaining at Bunker Hill, eighteen miles from Harper's Ferry and nine miles from Charlestown; some going further down towards Manassas; some stretching along between Charlestown, Winchester, and in the direction of Martinsburg; another portion was said to have gone to Romney.

The Recruiting Service in 1798.

That our readers my see how the recruiting service was conducted some sixty years ago, and the spirit which animated the soldier at that time, we copy herewith an article from the New Jersey Gazette, of July 30th, 1798. This old volumne contains many curious articles and advertisements, but probably none more curious or appropos to the times, than the following:

GENERAL WASHINGTON COMMANDS!

HARK! THE DRUM BEATS TO ARMS.

The undersigned, recruiting sergeant to the honorable ensign Boote, of the brave and glorious third United States regiment of the infantry, begs leave to have the honor of informing the youth of New Jersey in general, and the lads of the counties of Middlesex and Somerset in particular, that the rendezvous is still continued at New Brundswick, for the reception of such young fellows of spirit as may wish to acquire the erect attitude, manly deportment, genteel address and warlikd whiskered phiz of a regular continental soldier. Nothing need be advanced to induce the young men who, disdaining an inactive life, and nobly preferring a musket to inglorious rustic implements, have served a campaign with credit to themselves and commanders, to re-enter the service, when they learn that they will be commanded by the brave Gen. Washington. To those heroes who have never seen the world, or heard the inspiring heart cheering sound of the drum and trumpet, he begs leave to address a few words.

Your country, my boys, is threatened with invasion! Your homes and farms with fire, plunder and pillage! and your wives and sweethearts with ravishment and assassination by horrid outlandish sans-culotte Frenchmen! The time is now arrived when every man must convert his ploughshares into swords and his pruning hooks into spears, or be torn limb from gut and devoured alive by blood-thirsty ferocious cannibals.

But you will say, why mention these things to hearts of oak, to whom the knowledge of the critical situation of their country, with the honor of being permitted to fight her battles, and the glory of receiving scars in her service, would be sufficient inducement to rally around her standard! To arms, then, my dear brave boys! leave your lonesome cottages, and repair to the drum-head at New Brunswick, where you will find me and my comrades (all true sons of thunder) drinking bowls of cool grog, to the honor of Congress and our noble President.

You shall there receive a handsome bounty, with five dollars a month until promoted, an elegant suit of clothes, draw daily rations that might tempt an epicure, and be treated with kindness and attention by

Your loving friend and well-wisher,
JAS. HAMILTON, Recruiting Sergeant.

OUR ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

An Explanation.

We regret the necessity for the publication of anything like the following at this time; and the necessity arises only from the fact that falsehoods are much more readily circulated than contradicted. Were it not that great and lasting injury might be done to Captain Szink, should the report be allowed to pass without this public contradiction, we would rather let it die without giving it so much importance:

CAMP CHAMBERS,
Near Chambersburg, June 10, 1861.

GEO. B. CRAMER, Esq—Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 29th ult., was received on the 31st ult., and the contents duly noted. I received it when the company was making preparations to take up the line of march for the campground, three miles from Chambersburg, and, under the circumstances, was not able to reply until this time.

After I had perused the letter, it was read with great eagerness by all the men, who were surprised to find that the human mind could be so base and degraded as to frame such a dastardly falsehood as did private Furgeson, of Capt. Wayne's company.

With regard to the selling of the underclothes by Lieut. Gardner and myself, as reported by Furgeson, I have to say that it is a false fabrication. The shirts which you sent me were not sufficient in number to supply all my men, and you therefore left the plan of distribution optional with me. Knowing that the men did not need any of them at present, I stored them away in a large box, where they still remain, and where they will be kept until they are needed, and then they shall be distributed cheerfully and freely. I should not, under any circumstances, take anything from the men under my command, but would rather give them anything which I have. God forbid that I should ever be guilty of doing anything like that charged by Furgeson. I love and respect those under my command, who have left their firesides and homes to defend the Constitution and flag of their country, and I feel assured that I have their entire confidence.

Furgeson is now under arrest, and will undergo a court-martial for his unmanly conduct in this instance, and will receive punishment which will learn him a useful lesson in future. The men under my command are preparing a card for publication, and you will oblige me by having this statement and the card published in the Tribune.

Yours Respectfully,
JACOB SZINK,
Capt. Co. B, 3d Reg. P. V.

CAMP CHAMBERS,
Near Chambersburg, June 10, 1861.

We, the undersigned, a committee appointed by the members of Company B, 3d Reg. P. V., formerly known as the "Logan Rifle Rangers, of Altoona," take this method of informing George B. Cramer, Esq., and the citizens of Altoona, donators of underclothing to said company, that the report circulated by private Wm. Furgeson, of Captain Wayne's company, charging Capt. Szink with selling the underclothing, is a base falsehood, gotten up to injure the reputation of our worthy Captain at home. We take pleasure in saying that in Capt. HARRISBURG, Pa., June 25, 1861.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I have just arrived here after a very pleasant tour West of the Alleghenies; and, having visited many of the camps of the Western States, I thought that perhaps a few military items would be of interest to your readers—especially during war times, as people want nothing now but news of a military character to interest them.

On Friday two weeks since, I left Chicago on a visit to the camp at Cairo. It was the day of the funeral obsequies of the late lamented Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois; and, after seeing the imposing ceremonies, and his body laid in the tomb at Cottage Grove, I took the State street cars for the Illinois Central R. R. depot, and at 6 o'clock was en route for Egypt. At 9 o'clock on Saturday I arrived at Cairo, and with a pass courteously tendered by General Prentiss, I entered the lines. About 4,000 troops were encamped on the banks of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers, while five heavy batteries of 42 pounders and columbiads command the various points from which an enemy might approach. During Saturday a ten-inch columbiad was shotted and fired down the river, creating a heavy report and sending a solid shot for two miles crashing among the trees, and (as we were told afterwards,) frightening the rebels at Columbus, twenty miles below Cairo. One night was sufficient at this point, so leaving the rough soldiers' fare, which our friends kindly divided with us, and bidding farewell to the huge mosquitoes which had tormented us all night, we (that is another typo and my self,) left for Springfield, the Capital. At Springfield my friend left me, and I went up to Camp Yates, where I saw three fine companies of the original Ellsworth Zouaves, nearly every officer of whom visited the East with the lamented Colonel last summer. From Camp Yates I proceeded to Chicago, where I found a brigade encampment of accepted troops, numbering several thousand, who were encamped at Cottage Grove, opposite the lot where Judge Douglas lies buried. These had received orders to put themselves at once in readiness for marching, and among them was a German regiment of rifles armed with sword bayonets. The justly-celebrated Sturges Rifles, armed and equipped through the liberality of Col. Sturges, of Chicago—all "crack shots"—attracted much attention.

At 7 o'clock P. M., I left for Cleveland via. Crestline, but at Crestline I took the C. C. & C. R. R. for Camp Dennison, Ohio, stopping for an hour at Camp Jackson, Columbus, where 5,000 men are encamped. At 4 o'clock P. M. we arrived at Camp Dennison, 17 miles north of Cincinnati. This camp covers over 150 acres of land, and is situated on a beautiful plain, surrounded by high hills, with the Little Miami river on the southern line. The C. C. & C. R. R. passes directly through the centre of the camp, which contains three brigades of troops under the command of Brigadier General Cox, the senior officer in command.—Fifteen thousand troops are quartered here, uniformed and well armed, and the officers are very competent, most of them having been in service or graduated at West Point, and this being a camp of instruction, the strictest discipline is maintained. Eight hundred men compose the regimental and picket guards, the latter of whose line extends over two miles. Col. DeVilliers, a French Zouave, who first taught Colonel Ellsworth the Zouave drill, is the acting Brigade Major of the 3d Brigade, and is said to be a superior drill officer. There are also about two hundred U. S. regular troops encamped at Camp Dennison.

Returning to Crestline, we took the Ft. Wayne R. R. to Pittsburgh, and stopped for a while at the "Iron City" to view the celebrated cannon foundry of Knap, Rudd & Co. Here we saw huge columbiads, heavy eight-inch mortars and howitzers, and piles of solid shot and shell of all calibres, including some of the immense 15-inch shell used for the great Union gun. The foundry is in operation day and night, and is turning out guns very rapidly.

Pittsburgh is alive with the war spirit. Uniforms are to be seen on every corner of the streets, and the noise of the drum and fife resounds on every side. Camp Wilkins (the old fair-ground,) is filling up fast, there being some ten companies in Camp, while Camp Wright, eleven miles up the river, has over 5,000 men ready for duty.

Twenty-two steamboats of light draught were despatched by Government last week, down the river—supposed destination, either the Kanawa or the Cumberland river.—More anon.

☞ The departure of the Secession troops from Harper's Ferry was a subject of ridicule and derision in Baltimore. A burlesque report of a race, with Jeff. Davis, Gen. Beauregard, etc., as leaders, was posted in front of the Clipper office and excited much attention.

☞ Gen. Scott opposes the appointment of civilians, when capable men in the regular service can be selected, to important and responsible positions in the army.

PROF. O. J. WOOD'S RESTORATIVE CORDIAL AND BLOOD RENOVATOR.

IS precisely what its name indicates, for while pleasant to the taste, it is revivifying, exhilarating and strengthening to the vital powers. It also revivifies, reinstates and renews the blood in all its original purity, and thus restores and renders the system invulnerable to attacks of disease. It is the only preparation ever offered to the world in a popular form so as to be within the reach of all. So chemically and skillfully combined as to be the most powerful tonic, and yet so perfectly adapted so as to act in perfect accordance with the laws of nature, and hence soothe the weakest stomach and tone up the digestive organs, and allay all nervous and other irritation. It is also perfectly exhilarating in its effects, and yet it is never followed by lassitude or depression of spirits. It is composed entirely of vegetables, and those thoroughly combining powerful tonic and soothing properties, and consequently can never injure. As a sure preventive and cure of

CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, INDIGESTION, DYSPEPSIA, LOSS OF APPETITE, FAINTNESS, NERVOUS IRRITABILITY, NEURALGIA, PALPITATION OF THE HEART, MELANCHOLY, NIGHT SWEATS, LANGUOR, GIDDINESS, AND ALL THAT CLASS OF CASES SO FEARFULLY FATAL CALLED FEMALE WEAKNESS, AND IRREGULARITIES.

THERE IS NOTHING ITS EQUAL.

Also, Liver Derangements or Torpidity, and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidney, or any general derangement of the Urinary organs.

It will not only cure the debility following CHILLS and FEVER, but prevent all attacks arising from Miasmatic influences, and cure the diseases at once, if already attacked.

Travelers should have a bottle with them, as it will infallibly prevent any deleterious consequences following upon change of climate and water.

As it prevents costiveness, strengthens the digestive organs, it should be in the hands of all persons of sedentary habits.

Ladies not accustomed to much out-door exercise should always use it.

Mothers should use it, for it is a perfect relief, taken a month or two before the final trial, she will pass the dreadful period with perfect ease and safety.

There is no mistake about it.
THE CORDIAL IS ALL WE CLAIM FOR IT!
MOTHERS TRY IT!!

And to you we appeal, to detect the illness or decline not only of your daughters before it be too late, but also your sons and husbands, for while the former from false delicacy, often go down to a premature grave, rather than let their condition be known in time, the latter are often so mixed up with the excitement of business, that if it were not for you, they too, would travel in the same downward path until it is too late to arrest their fatal fall. But the mother is always vigilant, and to you we confidently appeal; for we are sure your never-failing affection will unerringly point you to PROF. WOOD'S RESTORATIVE CORDIAL AND BLOOD RENOVATOR as the remedy which should always be on hand in time of need.

PROF. L. MILLER'S

HAIR INVIGORATOR!!

AN EFFECTIVE, SAFE AND ECONOMICAL COMPOUND,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR to its original color without dyeing, and preventing the hair from turning gray.

FOR PREVENTING BALDNESS, and curing it, when there is the least particle of vitality or recuperative energy remaining.

FOR REMOVING SCURF AND DANDRUFF, and all cutaneous affections at the Scalp.

FOR BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, imparting to it an unequalled gloss and brilliancy, making it soft and silky in its texture and causing it to curl readily.

The great celebrity and the increasing demand for this unequalled preparation, convince the proprietor that one trial is only necessary to satisfy a discerning public of its superior qualities over any other preparation at present in use. It cleanses the head and scalp from dandruff and other cutaneous diseases, causes the hair to grow luxuriently, and gives it a rich, soft, glossy flexible appearance, and also where the hair is loosening and thining, it will give strength and vigor to the roots, and restore the growth to those parts which have become bald, causing it to yield a fresh covering of hair.

There are hundreds of ladies and gentlemen in New York who have had their hair restored by the use of this Invigorator, when all other preparations had failed. L. M. has in his possession letters innumerable testifying to the above facts, from persons of the highest respectability. It will effectually prevent the hair from turning gray until the latest period of life; and in cases where the hair has already changed its color, the use of the Invigorator will with certainty restore it to its original hue, giving it a dark, glossy appearance. As a perfume for the toilet and a Hair Restorative it is particularly recommended, having an agreeable fragrance; and the great facilities it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with the Invigorator can be dressed in any required form so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls—hence the great demand for it by the ladies as a standard toilet article which none ought to be without, as the price places it within the reach of all, being per bottle, to be had at all respectable druggists and perfumers.

L. MILLER would call the attention of Parents and Guardians to the use of the Invigorator, in cases where the childrens' Hair inclines to be weak. The use of it lays the foundation for a good head of hair, as it removes any impurities that may have become connected with the scalp, the removal of which is necessary both for the health of the child, and the future appearance of its Hair.

CAUTION.—None genuine without the fac simile LOUIS MILLER being on the outer wrapper; also, L. MILLER'S HAIR INVIGORATOR, N. Y. blown in the glass.

Wholesale Depot, 56 Dey St., and sold by all the principal Merchants and Druggists throughout the world.

Liberal discount to purchasers by the quantity.

I also desire to present to the American Public my

LABOR-SAVING

WASHING MACHINE.

THE UNDERSIGNED HAVING purchased the right for Blair county, of

are now manufacturing them at Altoona, and intend to supply them to those persons throughout the county who desire a LABOR-SAVING MACHINE.

This machine is got up on an entirely new principle, and is considered, by those who have seen it in use, the best that has ever been brought before the public.

Among the many advantages of this machine over all others may be mentioned the following:

1st. Its simplicity of construction, making it almost impossible to get out of order.

2d. Its speed, which astonishes alike the operator and the looker on.

3rd. The facility with which it adapts itself to the bulk or qantity of clothes desired to be washed.

4th. It washes equally well the finest and lightest fabric or the coarsest and heaviest, such as bed-quilts, comforts, blankets, &c.

McMINN & DERN,
Altoona, Blair County, Pa.

We the undersigned, hereby certify that we are now using Tolhurst's Improved Washing Machine and are fully satisfied that it is a very excellent article of the kind; combining as it does great speed with little labor, and performing its work in the most satisfactory manner. We therefore cheerfully recommend it to all who desire a real labor-saving washing machine.

MOFFAT'S

LIFE PILLS and PHŒNIX BITTERS.

THESE MEDICINE HAVES NOW been before the public for a period of thirty years, and during that time have maintained a high character in almost every part of the globe, for their extraordinary and immediate power of restoring perfect health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is liable.

The following are among the distressing variety of human diseases in which the

are well known to be infallible.

DYSPEPSIA, by thoroughly cleansing the first and second stomachs, and creating a flow of pure, healthy bile, instead of the stale and acrid kind; FLATULENCY, Loss of Appetite, Heartburn, Headache, Restlessness, Ill Temper, Anxiety, Langour, and Melancholy, which are the general symptoms of Dyspepsia, will vanish, as a natural consequence of its cure.

COSTIVENESS, by cleansing the whole length of the intestines with a solvent process, and without violence; all violent purges leave the bowels costive within two days.

FEVERS of all kinds, by restoring the blood to a regular circulation, through the process of respiration in such cases, and the thorough solution of all intestinal obstruction in others.

The Life Medicines have been known to cure RHEUMATISM permanently in three weeks, and GOUT in half that time, by removing local inflammation from the muscles and ligaments of the joints.

DROPSIES of all kinds, by freeing and strengthening the kidneys and bladder; they operate most delightfully on these important organs, and hence have ever been found a certain remedy for the worst cases of GRAVEL.

Also WORMS, by dislodging from the turnings of the bowels the slimy matter to which these creatures adhere.

SCURVY, ULCERS, and INVETERATE SORES, by the perfect purity which these LIFE MEDICINES give to the blood, and all the humors.

SCORBUTIC ERUPTIONS and BAD COMPLEXIONS, by their alterative effect upon the fluids that feed the skin, and the morbid state of which occasions all eruptive complaints, sallow, cloudy, and other disagreeable complexions.

The use of these Pills for a very short time will effect an entire cure of SALT RHEUM, and a striking improvement in the clearness of the skin. COMMON COLDS and INFLUENZA will always be cured by one dose, or by two in the worst cases.

PILES.—The original proprietor of these medicines, was cured of Piles, of 35 years standing, by the use of the Life Medicines alone.

FEVER & AGUE.—For this scourge of the Western country, these medicines will be found a safe, speedy and certain remedy. Other medicines leave the system subject to a return of the disease—a cure by these medicines is permanent—try them, be satisfied, and be cured.

BILLIOUS FEVERS and LIVER COMPLAINTS.—General debility, loss of appetite and diseases of females—the medicines have been used with the most beneficial results in cases of this description:—Kings Evil and Scrofula, in its worst forms, yields to the mild yet powerful action of these remarkable Medicines. Night Sweats, Nervous Debility, Nervous Complaints of all kinds, Palpitation of the Heart, Painters' Colic, are speedily cured.

MERCURIAL DISEASES.—Persons whose constitutions have become impaired by the injudicious use of Mercury, will find these medicines a perfect cure, as they never fail to eradicate from the system, all the effects of Mercury, infinitely sooner than the most powerful preparation of Sarsaparilla.

Prepared and sold by W. B. MOFFAT,
335 Broadway, New York.

For sale by all Druggists. [Sept. 13, 1860-1y.

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

The proprietors and manufacturers of HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS can appeal with perfect confidence to physicians and citizens generally of the United States, because the article has attained a reputation heretofore unknown. A few facts upon this point will speak more powerfully than volumes of bare assertion or blazoning puffery. The consumption of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters for the last year amounted to over a half-million bottles, and from its manifest steady increase in times past, it is evident that during the coming year the consumption will reach near one million bottles. This immense amount could never have been sold but for the rare medicinal properties contained in the preparation, and the sanction of the most prominent physicians in those sections of the country where the article is best known, who not only recommend the Bitters to their patients, but are ready at all times to give testimonials to its efficacy in all cases of stomachic derangements and the diseases resulting therefrom.

This is not a temporary popularity, obtained by extraordinary efforts in the way of trumpeting the qualities of the Bitters, but a solid estimation of an invaluable medicine, which is destined to be as enduring as time itself.

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have proved a Godsend to regions where fever and ague and various other bilious complaints have counted their victims by hundreds. To be able to state confidently that the "Bitters" are a certain cure for the Dyspepsia and like diseases, is to the proprietors a source of unalloyed pleasure. It removes all morbid matter from the stomach, purifies the blood, and imparts renewed vitality to the nervous system, giving it that tone and energy indispensable for the restoration of health. It operates upon the stomach, liver, and other digestive organs, mildly but powerfully, and soon restores them to a condition essential to the healthy discharge of the functions of nature.

Elderly persons may use the Bitters daily as per directions on the bottle, and they will find in it a stimulant peculiarly adapted to comfort declining years, as it is pleasant to the palate, invigorating to the bowels, excellent as a tonic, and rejuvenating generally. We have the evidence of thousands of aged men and women who have experienced the benefit of using this preparation while suffering from stomach derangements and general debility; acting under the advice of physicians, they have abandoned all deleterious drugs and fairly tested the merits of this article. A few words to the gentler sex. There are certain periods when their cares are so harassing that many of them sink under the trial. The relation of mother and child is so absorbingly tender, that the mother, especially if she be young, is apt to forget her own health in her extreme anxiety for her infant. Should the period of maternity arrive during the summer season, the wear of body and mind is generally aggravated. Here, then, is a necessity for a stimulant to recuperate the energies of the system, and enable the mother to bear up under her exhausting trials and responsibilities. Nursing mothers generally prefer the Bitters to all other invigorators that receive the endorsement of physicians, because it is agreeable to the taste as well as certain to give a permanent increase of bodily strength.

All those persons, to whom we have particularly referred above, to wit: sufferers from fever and ague, caused by malaria, diarrhœa, dysentery, indigestion, loss of appetite, and all diseases or derangements of the stomach, superannuated invalids, persons of sedentary occupation, and nursing mothers, will consult their own physical welfare by giving to Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters a trial.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

☞ Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa., and sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, South America, and Germany.
